150 Years of the Perfect Vacation

Follow in the footsteps of Lake Geneva's earliest visitors

Story by Anne Morrissy

Photos by Holly Leitner

On October 8-10, 1871, the Great Chicago Fire destroyed 2,000 acres of property in the city, tragically burning the homes of nearly one-third of the city's population. Seeking an escape from the destruction and the aftermath of the catastrophe, many Chicagoans sought refuge in Lake Geneva, arriving on the newly expanded Chicago & Northwestern Railroad line. Discovering the natural beauty of the area, many of those families went on to build impressive summer homes on the shores of the lake, quickly earning the area the nickname "Newport of the West" (after the opulent vacation destination of Newport, Rhode Island). This year marks the 150th anniversary of the arrival of these influential "resorters" in the Lake Geneva area, and their legacy continues to this day.

Looking for a glimpse of their world? Explore these must-see Lake Geneva treasures.

GET OUT IN A BOAT

Whether you opt for a professional boat tour on a classic yacht, or rent a more modern boat for a self-guided tour, the water is the best vantage point from which to see all of Geneva Lake's still-extant historic homes. See if you can spot the many impressive summer "cottages" still standing from Geneva Lake's "golden era" of architecture — the 1870s through the 1920s.

STEP BACK IN TIME

Built in 1888 as a summer home for the beer baron Conrad Seipp and his family, Black Point Estate offers visitors the opportunity to experience lake life in the 19th century. Today it is managed by the Wisconsin Historical Society and has been named one of the top-10 historic home estate tours in the United States by Fodor's Travel. Or visit "Historic Main Street" — an immersive, turn-of-the-century streetscape — at the Geneva Lake Museum, where you can learn more about the area's rich history.

HIKE WITH A VIEW

Completely surrounding the lake and measuring roughly 21 miles total, the Geneva Lake Shore Path was created by the local Potawatomi Indians when they inhabited the area prior to 1836. Today this public path is a great way to get a closer look at some of Wisconsin's most impressive architecture.

TRAVEL THE PATH OF THE OLD RAILROADS

In the late 19th century, almost everyone arrived in the Lake Geneva area by train. Today, you can follow in their footsteps by hiking the nature paths that have sprung up along the old train routes. In Williams Bay's Kishwaukee Nature Conservancy, hike four miles of trails across multiple ecosystems, including the Railroad Spur trail which spans a portion of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad bed. Or head to the White River Trail, a 12-mile crushed limestone trail ideal for biking and hiking that stretches from Elkhorn to Burlington and passes just north of Lake Geneva along a former railroad path.

5 SHOP AND DINE

For 150 years, Lake Geneva has been a prime vacation destination. And what vacation would be complete without a little time to splurge? Beautiful, historic downtown Lake Geneva boasts more than 50 independently owned restaurants and shops. Here you will find restaurants featuring an array of cuisines and shops that offer everything from fashion and home goods to outdoor adventure gear to fine art. Go ahead — treat yourself.

6 SPEND A DAY AT THE BEACH

Don't let your Lake Geneva vacation end without spending some time as so many "resorters" before you have done — relaxing at the Riviera Beach in downtown Lake Geneva. A day of sun, sand and swimming in the crystal-clear lake water is a can't-miss activity. You can also take advantage of other beautiful Geneva Lake beaches in Williams Bay, Fontana or Lake Geneva's Big Foot Beach State Park.
